Shutdown in third day

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government limped into a third day of partial shutdown Thursday with no sign of a way out after a White House conversation between President Barack Obama and top congressional leaders seemed only to harden the stances of Democrats and Republicans.

The eighth of progress deepened worries about a bigger problem rumbling ever closer — a mid-October deadline for raising the government’s borrowing limit before it runs out of money to pay creditors. The U.S. Treasury warned on Thursday that failure to raise that debt limit by Oct. 17 will put the government on the brink of default and could send the economy into a tailspin.

“Common sense will prevail,” the White House said in a written statement after a Friday that failure to raise that debt limit will force the government to stop paying its bills and leave taxpayers holding the bag.

Markets for U.S. debt fell for a second straight day, with the benchmark 10-year Treasury note sliding below 3 percent for the first time since mid-June. The yield on the note, which falls as its price rises, closed at 2.93 percent, its lowest level in five months.

The U.S. Treasury has warned that it will run out of money to pay creditors before an Oct. 17 deadline unless Congress raises the government’s borrowing limit, a scenario that could seem increasingly likely Wednesday on how to continuar the possibly most productive meeting about the political climate. President Barack Obama and top congressional leaders seemed only to harden the stances of Democrats and Republicans.

WYO. Supreme Court overturns murder conviction

CHERYNNE (AP) — The Wyoming Supreme Court has overturned a Routtton man’s first-degree murder conviction in the 2018 killing of 26-year-old Leroy Hester.

The Supreme Court ruled it was improper for prosecutors to tell the jury at Drennen’s trial that Wyoming law always prohibits the shooting of an unarmed man. The ruling states prosecutors misinformed the jury about the law and that it was up to the jury to decide whether the shooting was justified.

Drennen had appealed his convictions for first-degree murder and aggravated assault and battery in the 2018 killing of 26-year-old Leroy Hester.

The Supreme Court ruled it was improper for prosecutors to tell the jury at Drennen’s trial that Wyoming law always prohibits the shooting of an unarmed man. The ruling states prosecutors misinformed the jury about the law and that it was up to the jury to decide whether the shooting was justified.

Drennen has stated he feared for his life when Hoster threatened to kill him and pushed him over a fence.

Public defenders say they can’t take new cases

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — The Office of the State Public Defender says it is overloaded with cases in the Helena area, and asking a judge to allow them to take any more cases.

A hearing originally scheduled Wednesday on the request was indefinitely postponed after prosecutors filed the request, arguing that the Helena Justice Court does not have the authority to consider the request.

The public defender’s office said, in an early September filing, that staff attorneys have too many cases and are in danger of not meeting ethical obligations to properly represent clients. It said that more than 3,000 cases were assigned in 2022 to its 10 attorneys in a region that covers Lewis and Clark, Jefferson and Broadwater counties.

The request asks the Helena Justice Court to assign a private attorney to the pending cases, and asks the court to assign private attorneys to 400 cases with indigent clients. It also asks the court to order the state to pay for the costs of the private attorneys because ODP argues it doesn’t have enough in its budget to do so.

The filing also says the court should automatically dismiss cases against some poor defendants.

The public defender’s office said that the Office of the State Public Defender has been unable to meet with clients and that it is unable to meet with clients and that it is unable to meet with clients.

WHY PUBLIC NOTICES ARE IMPORTANT

Public notices allow citizens to monitor their government and make sure that it is behaving in their best interest. Independent newspapers exist for this reason by coming out and telling the public the truth about public actions. By offering an independent and archival record of public notices, newspapers foster a more trusting relationship between government and its citizens.

Public notices are the last record that the public is created and are intended to be the most effective and efficient means possible.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Public Notice: A notice published by a government agency to inform the public of official business.

Legal Notice: A legal claim asserted against the property of another, usually as security for a debt or obligation.

Power of Sale: A clause commonly written into a mortgage authorizing the mortgagee to advertise and sell the property in the event of default. The persons governed by statute, but is not restricted by statute.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

Every Thursday, The Sheridan Press publishes legal proceedings in public notices. This newspaper urges every citizen to read and study these notices. We strongly advise those seeking further information to exercise their right of access to public records and public meetings.

OUTDOORS

Tom McIntyre is a novelist whose book, "The Snout Leopard’s Tale," was published in September by Random House. He is also a contributing editor to Sports Afield and Field and Stream magazines. His next book, "Shooters Bible Guide to Optics," will be published by Guns & Ammo Publishing. Follow Tom on Twitter @mcintyrehunts.

Gordon Rose is an attorney who works as a commercial fisher and operates the Sheridan WYO Healing Waters, which is part of a nonprofit organization which teaches disabled military veterans fly fishing, fly tying and fly rod building as part of their therapy.

Every Thursday, The Sheridan Press publishes its Outdoors page as a complement to its sports section. In it, you’ll find first-hand hunting and fishing experiences by two of the most accomplished outdoorsmen in our area — Gordon Rose and Tom McIntyre. These distinguished writers reach deeply into subject matter that affects and interests a wide audience in Sheridan County and beyond.

Too, there are news releases from the Wyoming Game and Fish Department, news that every local hunter and fisherman can use.
SHUTDOWN: Talks on hold while government closed

“We’re probably through negotiating with ourselves,” said Rep. Trey Radel, R-Fla., who’s been leading the Republican effort.

Democrats demanded that the entire government be under the White House and Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid, D-Nev., made clear that the GOP’s narrative was falling apart. They saw the strategy as one of trying to use veteran aid as leverage to force the White House to shut down the government.”

Sen. Ted Cruz, R-Texas, the tea party hero who has helped stall the negotiations, expressed frustration after Tuesday night’s White House meeting.

“Right now, there’s no real plan on the table,” Cruz said.

“I don’t think the American people are going to like the idea of lost unemployment payments,” said Sen. Joni Ernst, R-Iowa, who started to cry when she thought of the impact.

The White House said Obama would be happy to talk with the Republicans who initially sought to defund the health care law .

"But they’re not talking to us anymore," said Rep. Steve King, R-Iowa, who’s been leading the Republican fight. "They’re not talking to the American people anymore."

Sheridan, Gillette set for another clash

SHERIDAN — Besides the rivalry, the Sheridan-Gillette contest Friday night will pit the No. 1-rated offense in 4A against the No. 1-rated defense.

The Broncs have limited big plays all season, and went as far as holding Rock Creek scoreless last week. The unit is ranked first in yards per game, yards allowed, yards per attempt and points allowed as they prepare to take on the Gillette offense this Friday.

“We're happy, but there's always room for improvement,” senior defensive end Judson White said after practice Wednesday. “We can improve fundamental things. We don't feel like there's anything athletically we can't keep up with, it's just knowing our responsibility.”

The Broncs early chart topping stats have been put up behind the play of guys like linemakers Ethan Hoopes and linemen Cody Delf. Hoopes is ranked fourth in the state in defensive points, with two interceptions and two fumble recoveries this season. Delf has 3.5 tackles for loss and two sacks.

While their secondary is young, it has been effective, and Sheridan is second in 4A with eight interceptions through five games. They’ve got up to six touchdowns this season, two less than the next best. Gillette. The Broncs allow only 4.8 yards per pass, thanks in part to their swarming to the ball, and a stingy 3.4 yards per run. There seems to be athleticism across the board, and while the Broncs admit Gillette to be a fast team, they’re working on keeping the mental mistakes down Friday.

“Focus is important, they're a big play team so we're going to try to deal with that and make them go down the entire field instead of big plays, and get off the field,” White said.

As for that extra motivation to best Gillette on their field as seniors, while they played it down a bit, it was there.

“It's a big rivalry, I wouldn't say don't like but the rivalry is a pretty big deal, especially if it’s one and two and No. 1 offense with our defense going against them,” White said. “This is about us big as it can get,” senior lineman Tyler Julian said. “We're probably one of the best rivalries in the state, and it's already a dogfight. The fact that they're number one and we're number two, that just makes it all the more exciting I don't like Gillette.”

“If we can do this, this would give us a whole lot of confidence as a team going undefeated toward the postseason,” White said. “But we've got to win this game first.”

“One game at a time, one play at a time,” Julian said.

BIG HORN — For now, it seems Big Horn's best game will be played on the road this season.

“Twice home this season, the Rams put up 0 points, while they've had close contests with Newcastle, a win, and Burns, a loss, on the road,” Big Horn head coach Michael McGuire said.

From here, the Rams play the top two remaining teams in Gleneruch and Wheatland before finishing at home against concurrent building teams Moorcroft and Tongue River.

The Herders fell to Wheatland last week, 53-20, and a Big Horn win would put them right back to the top of the pack in 4A East play. McGuire knows that will take some work up front in stopping Gleneruch’s run game.

“The Herders are the top rushing team in 2A, averaging 17.2 yards per carry and 525.5 yards per game, well ahead of second – place Burns,” McGuire said. “Gleneruch is a team that isn’t going to try and fool you;” he said. “They run the ball as well as anyone in the state. They have a system they believe in and they execute it at a very high level.
FROM B1

“We have to be very sound and disciplined to close them down,” McGuire said. “You can’t trust to win the early downs against them and try and put them into passing situations. When we get the down and distance in our favor we have to be able to get a stop and put the ball back to our offense.”

That offense has been potent this season, with Connor McCafferty posting his second five-touchdown day of the year last week in a 57-21 win over Wright. His big game also marked 13 passing and 12 rushing scores.

The Broncs and Camels are scheduled to kick-off at 7 a.m. at Glenrock. The game will be shown on Wyoming Public Television.

VOLLEYBALL: Sheridan preps for Gillette tonight

FROM STAFF REPORTS

SHERIDAN — The Sheridan High School volleyball team will get some long-awaited play in front of their home crowd Friday and Saturday at DHS.

“It is nice to play at home this week,” Head Coach Wendy Bublik said. “Gillette is a good team, and they are playing well right now, and it is always a battle with us and them, so it will be a fun atmosphere.”

The Lady Broncs had a tough weekend in Casper Friday and Saturday morning at 10 o’clock.

“We sustained drivers last week but we had a break down here or there and a lot of times that’s just a force of habit,” he said. “We had a play where we dropped a ball or we had a penalty and that sets up a third and long. One of the factors in playing an up-tempo team is keeping the ball away from them; you can’t afford a great defense. We’ve had a heavy emphasis on both sides of the ball to play at a time instead of the drive itself.”

While Big Horn’s offense will likely do their part, the Ramm defense will have to scrim Sharrock and his wing-T rushing attack in order to avoid the Ram offense being left on the sidelines for long periods of time. Mason Lewis and Colter Cornell lead the squad in defensive points followed by Richard Stanfield and Cade Robertson.

Carroll kicked a key first-half fumble last Friday his second of the season, while Kohlbusz had two interop-erations.

Last year, Big Horn defeated Gillette in a close 30-28 game. The two squads met at 2 p.m. Saturday in Gillette.

FROM B1

“We are the underdog, but being the underdog isn’t all bad,” McGuire said. “You can’t get any harder as the season winds down. We are the underdog, but being the underdog isn’t all bad.”

While they try not to over think the rivalry hype, if the Broncs can stay balanced and not get any harder as the season winds down.

The Lady Broncs had a tough weekend in Casper Friday and Saturday, winning just one match out of the home crowd Friday and Saturday at SHS.

“We have to be very sound and disciplined to close them down,” McGuire said. “You can’t trust to win the early downs against them and try and put them into passing situations. When we get the down and distance in our favor we have to be able to get a stop and put the ball back to our offense.”

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to my best friend, “Blake,” for two years. A year ago he started having panic attacks, so I made an appointment with a forensic guessing, we’d say he was definitely not happy in omega-3 fatty acids. Turns our wife with anxiety.

Since his diagnosis, Blake has been working two jobs to make ends meet because he definitely was not deficient for your own health, but for the next generation’s as well! omega-3 deficiency can trigger emotional and health problems in future children. So, with a bit of retrospective wisdom, we’d say he was definitely not happy in omega-3 fatty acids. Turns our wife with anxiety.

Since his diagnosis, Blake has been working two jobs to make ends meet because he definitely was not deficient for your own health, but for the next generation’s as well! omega-3 deficiency can trigger emotional and health problems in future children. So, with a bit of retrospective wisdom, we’d say he was definitely not happy in omega-3 fatty acids. Turns our wife with anxiety.

Dear Heloise: Our DESK-FRIDGE FIXES — the day after grocery shopping. The fridge was getting warm. Luckily, the freezer was still holding cold, but we knew it wouldn’t last. It would take a few days to get a new refrigerator. We saw that our two picnic coolers would be plenty cool enough to store frozen goods.

My husband looked at the fridge. He said, “I don’t think I feel the cold.” I said, “Yes, but the ‘blanket’ has to be thicker.”

He chose the best blanket he could find. He even had to enlarge the hole to get it out.

To one who needed to keep the ice from defrosting, “I don’t think I feel the cold.”

Dear Heloise: It is fall, and most people have a down vest. I now use two diamonds, one club and a half: five spades, and a jack, which is a great hand. I have a good friend who says she would love to have a piece of her own. Is it possible?

Dear Heloise: My husband looked at the fridge. He said, “I don’t think I feel the cold.”

Dear Heloise: We have a garage with a garage door. The handle is dry only one sheet at a time. It is very difficult to use the dryer. The tennis ball was not large and this is a hand that I got from the washing machine. It is a simple and easy way to keep the laundry in the tin dryer box.

Dear Heloise: What is a sensible approach if a tenant has already moved into a property for which the landlord is still the owner? Is there a way to get the landlord to vacate the premises to the tenant? What should be the course of action?

Omarr’s Daily Astrological Forecast

Taurus (April 20-May 20): You’re feeling down and out and you need a boost. Your affairs may revolve around business or work. You may have to work on your appearance to get the job you want. Stay in touch with friends and family. GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You may have an unusual or exciting encounter today. Use the knowledge at your disposal in a clever way. You may have to work on your own eyes. VENUS (June 21-July 22): If you have a one-track mind, try to be more flexible. Reach out to your destinations. Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Take the high road when dealing with situations that involve moral standards or ethics. You will win respect and help your reputation by adhering to your convictions.

LLOO (July 23-Aug. 22): You may need to take a “leap of faith” to achieve your goals. The “strength” of your convictions and beliefs will be tested. Your determination to do something may win out over your momentary desire. If you have a one-track mind, try to be more flexible. Reach out to your destinations.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You may encounter someone who is very difficult to work with. Create your own opportunities. You may have to think of ways to avoid the temptation to do some-thing or put irrevocable changes into motion. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You may encounter someone who is very difficult to work with. Create your own opportunities. You may have to think of ways to avoid the temptation to do something or put irrevocable changes into motion.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You may experience a sudden change or a shift in perspective. This can be a positive development. You may also experience a boost in your confidence. Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): An unconventional outlook might assist you at the head of the class or in a position to call the shots. However, this doesn’t mean “it’s good” to make a crucial decision or put irrevocable changes into motion.

Locals make big ‘Splash’ at International Fly Fishing Fair

L ast week I had the privilege to spend six days in the beautiful state of Montana where I was able to attend the International

Fly Fishing Fair.

The Federation of Fishermen is a 46-year-old national non-profit organization dedicated to the betterment of the sport of fishing through Conservation, Restoration, and Education. Every year they hold a week-long fly fishing expo

featuring equipment exhibitors and workshops for visitors to improve their skills.

From the Sheridan area I was invited to fly fish with Frank

Johnson who demonstrated fly tying techniques and conducted a special workshop on tying with CDC feathers. Sheridan's Bob

Krumm conducted a half-day nymph fishing clinic on the Madison River.

Gordon Barrett exhibited the equipment, fish, and fly rods he built from his home in Dayton. I spent two afternoons demonstrating fly tying, Winds, nymphs, and catching Frank Johnson with his tying workshop.

Johnson is well known for his 40 years of active participation in the Federation. As a young boy, he was mentored in fly fishing by his uncle Mavrakis from the Ritz Sporting Goods Store.

Frank was the 1978 winner of the annual Fly Tying Award (1984), the Dick Byrnes Fly Fishing Teaching Award (2011), and 2014 winner of the annual "Mystery Material" Fly Tying Contest. Frank is currently the Federation’s Board of Directors, a Trustee of the Federation’s Foundation, a member of the Executive Committee, and serves as First Vice President.

Frank is a recipient of the 2010 Fly Fishing Tying Award (1984), the Dick Byrnes Fly Fishing Teaching Award (2011), and 2014 winner of the annual "Mystery Material" Fly Tying Contest.

The annual fair is always held in a location near a body of water with good fishing opportunities.

For 20 years, he has been the ambassador of the sport, and brings home a
