On teachers opening doors

I recently introduced my daughter to my favorite teacher, Gin Scott, who taught this shy country girl and thousands of other high school students that the world is much bigger than this green Tongue River Valley we call home.

Ms. Scott's humanities class exposed her students to millennia of history, literature, cultures, religion, art and architecture from around the globe. She increased the size of my world by millions of square miles. I never liked going to school, and upon moving to Wyoming from Wyola, Montana, in eighth grade, my social anxiety was so tremendous that classes which required a physical “performance,” like speech, P.E. and driver’s education, filled me with nearly debilitating fear and dread. Courses never interested me until Ms. Scott's humanities class my senior year.

I found there was something besides art class that I could excel at and enjoy. I loved her creative writing class too, where I learned that words could be put together like components in a painting. Ms. Scott was also the drama director, and I joined drama my senior year. Pretending to be someone else came naturally, as I’d been doing it in school all my life. Drama helped me to overcome much of my social anxiety, and, ironically, helped me learn to be myself. (Note: I still sometimes resort to being someone else in social situations.)

Because of what Gin Scott taught me in high school, I aced college courses in humanities and art appreciation. I was mistaken for a humanities teacher in Europe because of what I’d learned in her class nearly 20 years earlier. In fact, I'd taken the trip to Europe at Ms. Scott's strict encouragement to do so.

Ms. Scott’s enthusiasm for her subjects was contagious–she instilled her knowledge and excitement into her lessons, and thus, her students. Decades later, my daughter was encouraged and excited to read the books they'd discussed during our short conversation. Walking away, my daughter said, "Gin is amazing." I wish she’d had more than 10 minutes with this remarkable individual.

If I wasn't an artist, I would have liked to become a teacher like Gin Scott, who truly loved what she was doing and made a difference in the lives of those she taught. She still loves it and still makes a difference in people's lives. I still live in this green little Tongue River Valley, but it’s much smaller since high school, when Ms. Scott opened doors to help me step into and explore the world.

Dawn of the Planet of the Apes (PG-13)
Daily 4:45, 7:15, 9:15 p.m.
Saturday, Sunday 2:15 p.m.

A growing nation of genetically evolved apes led by Caesar is threatened by a band of human survivors of the devastating virus unleashed a decade earlier. They reach a fragile peace, but it proves short-lived, as both sides are brought to the brink of a war that will determine who will emerge as Earth’s dominant species.

It is rated PG-13 for intense sequences of sci-fi violence and action, and brief strong language. It has a running time of 2 hours 20 minutes.

Planes: Fire and Rescue (PG)
Daily 4:45, 7:10, 9:15 p.m.
Saturday, Sunday 2:15 p.m.

Planes: Fire & Rescue is a new comedy-adventure about second chances, featuring a dynamic crew of elite firefighting aircraft devoted to protecting historic Piston Peak National Park from raging wildfire. When world-famous air racer Dusty (voice of Dane Cook) learns that his engine is damaged and he may never race again, he must shift gears and is forced into an uneasy truce with a quartet of disheartening misfits — Rocket, a gun-toting raccoon; Beppo, a fiery gorilla; Skipper, a sharp-shooting bird; andvro, a tiny, quick-witted bug. Together, the fearless team battles a massive wildfire, and Dusty learns what it takes to become a true hero.

It is rated PG for action and some peril. It has a running time of 1 hour 35 minutes.

America (PG-13)
Daily 4:30, 7, 9:15 p.m.
Saturday, Sunday 2:15 p.m.

The new film from the creators of 2016: Obama’s America takes America’s critics at face value and imagines a world in which she never existed. Today that notion of the essential goodness of America is under attack, replaced by another story in which theft and plunder are seen as the defining features of American history—from the theft of Native American and Mexican lands and the exploitation of African labor to a contemporary foreign policy said to be based on stealing oil and a capitalist system that robs people of their “fair share.” Gerald Molen, the Academy Award-winning producer of Schlinder’s List, Dinesh D’Souza, the New York Times best-selling author and creator of 2016, and director John Sullivan invite you on a journey of discovery that will bring you face-to-face with America’s most compelling contemporary critics along with the heroes who built America, in the times in which they lived, bled, and sacrificed in order to build a great nation. You’ll be there as Christopher Columbus sets foot on American soil, as bullets whiz by George Washington’s head, as Frederick Douglas’ demands that America live up to the promises of its founding and as Abraham Lincoln sacrifices thousands of lives, including his own, to right a great wrong. America the movie shows viewers why America the nation is more important to the world than we could ever imagine.

It is rated PG-13 for some violent images. It has a running time of 1 hour 55 minutes.

An action-packed, epic space adventure, Marvel’s Guardians of the Galaxy expands the Marvel Cinematic Universe into the cosmos, where brash adventurer Peter Quill finds himself the object of an unrelenting bounty hunt after stealing a mysterious orb coveted by Ronan, a powerful villain with ambitions that threaten the entire universe.
