Educational Summit Forum

On March 10, 2015, Whitney Benefits hosted the second annual Education Summit Forum at the Edward A. Whitney Center at Sheridan College. Local educators, government representatives, members of philanthropic foundations and others were in attendance to discuss education issues in Sheridan and Johnson counties, specifically college readiness options for high school students. The intent was to bring together various stakeholders from education administrators about the current accomplishments and challenges of area school districts and educational institutions as well as their future hopes and goals. The summit was opened with a talk by the 2014 Wyoming teacher of the year and SCSD#2 employee Ann West discussing “The Importance of the Arts in School and Career Readiness Standards.”

This speech was followed by a faculty panel with representatives from the Sheridan and Johnson county school districts and Sheridan College. The panel discussed why it is important to provide students with college opportunities while they are still in high school. This was followed by a second panel of students from the Sheridan and Johnson County high schools and Sheridan College. They discussed why high school students might choose to take college courses while still in high school.

Whitney Continues Support of High Demand Programs at Sheridan College

Whitney continues to donate funds for the renovation and expansion of the Thorne-Rider Campus Center at Sheridan College. In 2015, Whitney gifted $1,250,000 for this project as part of their $1,500,000 gift to Sheridan College in support of their $11.7 million renovation and expansion project of the Thorne-Rider Campus Center and the creation of an outdoor landscaped plaza connecting the Campus Center and the Whitney Building. One-half, or $750,000, of the gift will support the building itself and the additional $750,000 will support the plaza. An additional $250,000 was also gifted to improve and update utilities and telecommunications in this area. The previous student center building was built in 1966 and was sized to accommodate 100 students living on campus. The college now has 400+ students living on campus. The Thorne-Rider Campus Center is located at the hub of the campus and the new design encourages everyone on campus to spend some time there. The previous 16,000 square foot building was completely renovated and 12,000 square feet was added to the campus center. Food service is now organized food court style, with six open preparation and serving areas, a pizza and coffee shop and flexible furniture in various styles to support an educational atmosphere. The dining area can now seat up to 500 people on the upper level and will support the plan for 750 students living on campus within the next decade plus about 250 commuter students and employees daily. Other features in the space include an activities room, multi-purpose meeting rooms, campus safety offices and a Veterans Center to service the 120 Veterans currently enrolled at Sheridan College.

Whitney thanks all of the donors and private foundations involved in this project for their continued financial commitment to Sheridan College.

In 2015, Whitney Benefits donated $475,000 for this project. The agreement is meant to allow SC to expand the offerings in such high demand areas as Machine Tool Technology, Diesel Technology, Welding Technology, Agriculture/Horticulture and Performing Arts. In order to fully realize the plan, Whitney Benefits trustees looked to others in the community to match their pledge. The City of Sheridan matches the yearly pledge for the Machine Tool Technology faculty position and the Perkins Foundation matched the yearly pledge for the Welding Technology faculty position. An anonymous donor matched Whitney’s yearly pledge for the General Arts/Visual Arts faculty position and a second anonymous donor funded the Agricultural Science faculty position.

Whitney Benefits would like to extend a special thanks to these donors for their support of Sheridan College!

In March 2013, Whitney Benefits announced the creation of the Jobs, Education and Technology (JET) Program. The program is a partnership with Sheridan College and other potential sponsors and will include funding four new instructor positions for five years. The positions will be in areas where there is tremendous demand for educated, skilled workers. The total cost to add four full-time teachers is approximately $400,000 per year or $2 million over five years. The total pledge from Whitney Benefits is one-half of the $2 million, or $1 million, toward this effort. In 2015, Whitney Benefits donated $475,000 for this project. In 2015, Whitney Benefits gifted $25.3 million to Sheridan College for additional welding equipment to enhance the Welding Technology Program. Sheridan College purchased carbon arc equipment to meet the requirements of concurrent enrollment with Tongue River High School.

Gift to Expand Sheridan College Campus

In 2015, Whitney Benefits gifted Sheridan College properties on Smith Street valued at $181,000 as part of a 120 year old house that is located adjacent to the current Senior Center. These properties were used as a match for a Wyoming Business Council grant to construct the new elder care center, allowing the Senior Center to complete its goal for the Day Break Campus.

The partnership between Sheridan College and the Sheridan Senior Center provides students the unique opportunity to learn and work with elders in the Day Break center. The elders will benefit from the interaction with Sheridan College students and staff. The new facility will be used to create additional high-tech learning laboratories for Sheridan College areas of study such as culinary arts, horticulture, nursing, massage therapy and dental hygiene.

$200,000 Gift for Sheridan College Health Science

In 2015, Whitney Benefits gifted $200,000 to Sheridan College for renovations to the health science wing on the Sheridan College campus and for renovations at the Sheridan College Simulation Center located on Broadway Street in Sheridan, WY. Renovated space will create high-tech laboratories for students studying in the Dental Hygiene, Nursing and Massage Therapy fields. The upgrades to the Sim Center included adding a one-way mirror to the high-fidelity room which will enhance the learning opportunities for students.

Gift for CNA Instructor at Sheridan College

In 2015, Whitney approved a three year commitment to gift a total of $19,400 to Sheridan College for a half-time Certified Nursing Instructor. $12,200 was paid out in 2015. The CNA program has been a great addition to the Sheridan College nursing department and recently the classroom component of the class has been offered in an online format which makes it more accessible to students. The students perform their clinical hours at one of the long term care facilities and generally only travel to campus to practice their skills and test. The benefits to students and the community from the CNA program include:

- There is currently an extreme shortage of CNAs across Wyoming so students receiving this certification are guaranteed employment upon completion. The Sheridan Center for a Vital Community is supporting a grassroots effort to address the need for quality care for the elderly in the home and in care centers. A crucial piece is adequate numbers of well-trained Certified Nursing Assistants. According to the Bureau of Labor and AARP by the year 2020, CNA jobs will increase by 25% and CNAs/Health Aide jobs will increase by 48%.

Gift for Multiple Programs at Sheridan College

In 2015, Whitney Benefits gifted $1,021,800 to Sheridan College for machine tool, nursing, dental, culinary and welding programs at Sheridan College.

Machine Tool Technology

Purchases for the Machine Tool Technology program allowed an improved student to equipment ratio which gives students more opportunities to work hands-on with the equipment. Whitney Benefits funds purchased one additional manual lathe, three additional manual mills, additional Computerized Numerical Control (CNC) equipment. Nursing

The funds from Whitney Benefits were used to purchase a simulation product called Sim View for the Sheridan College nursing program. This product will be used to enhance the simulation experience as it provides high quality cameras which will improve clarity and high quality microphones which will enhance the ability to hear what students are saying. Additionally, it has the ability to stream in on a particular area such as visualizing a student drawing up a medication or putting on sterile gloves, a time stamped video log that records exactly what a patient event happens, and the program allows for sharing of video files so a student can view themselves in a simulation scenario on their own computer.

Welding Program

Sheridan College purchased 15 Lincoln multi-process machines with funding from Whitney Benefits. These machines allow students to experience various technical areas including aluminum spool gun welding.

In 2014, Whitney Benefits committed to the largest gift in the history of Sheridan College in the amount of $25.3 million. In 2015, Whitney continued to fund this extraordinary gift. The commitment from Whitney Benefits to Sheridan College includes the necessary $1.3 million required to complete the $8 million Mars Agriculture and Science Center renovation project. $16 million to support the renovation and expansion of the fine and performing arts wing of the original Whitney Building. $2 million to support infrastructure and parking improvements on the main campus and $6 million for approximately half of the Tech Center renovation and expansion project.

Currently, we serve over 2,000 students per semester,” SC President Dr. Paul Young said. “This plan and infusion of energy and capital will significantly aid in our efforts to grow the academic areas that align with the local job sectors experiencing growth and positive change.” The renovation and expansion of the fine and performing arts wing located at the north end of the current Whitney Building, referred to as the Whitney Center for the Arts, will include space to enrich the learning experience for all students. In addition to improvements to learning spaces for music and other performing arts, the Whitney gift will provide flexible, creative space to support fine arts programs including wood and metal fabrication labs, foundry space for pouring aluminum, bronze and eventually iron and multi-material casting.

The Mars Agriculture Center will be a 13,000 to 15,000 square foot state-of-the-art facility to be located on the south end of Sheridan College’s main campus connecting to the existing Science Center, which will also receive upgrades during the project. The center will focus on providing real-world experiences for students. In addition to high-tech class-rooms, a herbarium, a greenhouse and a soils and agroecology lab, the new center will include computerized commodities trading floor class-room for students studying in the ag-business program. “The real benefit to laying out a plan like this is that the dollars committed can be leveraged time and time again,” Whitney Benefits Trustee Everett McGlothlin said. Whitney Benefits also commits $6 million earmarked for the expansion and renovation of the Technical Education Center is approximately half of the total needed to provide a healthier, safer and more secure facility for students to gain vocational degrees and employable skills. College officials plan to request the additional funds from the State of Wyoming during the 2016 legislative session. “Our strategic direction focuses on doing our part to help Wyoming and the nation as a whole to prosper. We are so very fortunate to have many, many people here who believe in this goal and are willing to take action on behalf of the future generations who will continue to benefit from our efforts to expand learning opportunities and provide education,” Whitney Benefits.” Sheridan College officials hope to have the projects completed by late summer of 2016.
